===== This material is intended for educational purposes only. Please do not act on these concepts without first consulting with your financial, legal, and tax professional. Jerry Moore is a Registered Representative offering Securities through United Planners Financial Services, Member FINRA/SIPC. Advisory services offered through Bradford Financial Center. Bradford Financial Center, United Planners, and Tower Wealth Advisors are not affiliated. Tax services are offered independently of United Planners Important Disclosure: I'm an Enrolled Agent (EA), which means I'm authorized by the IRS to offer tax advice and services. It's important to note that my role as an EA is separate from my work with United Planners Financial Services. In simpler terms, when I give you tax advice or handle your tax needs, this is considered an "Outside Business Activity" by United Planners Financial Services. This means that the tax services I offer are not supervised or endorsed by United Planners, even though I may also work with you on financial planning and investment services through them. Think of these as two distinct hats I wear: one for tax-related matters and another for financial and investment planning through United Planners. They are legally separate and should not be seen as the same service.
